I Don't Ever Want To Lose Touch With You . . .
Once someone comes into my life,
I can't just let them slip away.
I cannot accept that.
People are too important.
Once I care . . . I will always care.
For friends, I will always be there.
People in my past are part of my life,
part of who I am,

and I don't want them to disappear.
Keeping in touch is important to me . . .
enough to let me know that although we don't spend time together, we do share some of the same thoughts and memories.

Let's keep in touch . . . okay?

Although this year's field hockey team did not make the districts, they had a fun-filled season. Among the senior members were Captains Sarah Currier, Tammy Garabedian, Heidi Chase, Chris Ludy, Deb Rice and Ann Casillo. Their leading scorers were Kim Inman, Sally Malboeuf, and Mary Inman. The team ended the season with a spaghetti supper at Coach Cimoch's house on Webster Lake.

WE ARE THE CHAMPIONS . . .

This year's football team can definitely prove that they are the champions. The Indians were first in the Southern Worcester County League and the Division 3 Champions in the Superbowl for the second year in a row. The team's success was a direct result of each player's effort and talent. From beginning to end, each game had non-stop action and excitement.

The football cheerleading season of 1985 was an unforgettable one, especially with the varsity team winning the Superbowl in overtime. The squad was coached by former cheerleader Claudette Joncas and consisted of senior captains Ivy Lapworth, Kim Morgan, and Karen Morissette.

Practices were held Tuesday through Friday and usually lasted two hours. Practice time was spent perfecting cheers and learning a dance routine for the Thanksgiving Day pep rally. Thanks to the assistance of Sandy Houde and Kim Pigaga, the dance routine was a great success.

The most exciting game of the season was the Superbowl at W.P.I. against Assabet, a team to whom the varsity football team had lost earlier in the season. The squad cheered enthusiastically throughout the game and got the crowd psyched and involved. The continuous response from adults as well as students kept the spirit high in Grafton's bleachers.

Though there were bad times as well as good times, most cheerleaders would agree that the season was an enjoyable and memorable one.

“GIRLS JUST WANT TO HAVE FUN”

This year's girls' basketball team, coached by Gary Nelson, ended the season with a 5-7 record. Grafton had a tough time, but when they won, they won big! Beating Leicester, Oxford, Hopedale, and Prouty twice was a pleasure. This year's starters were Maria Hageman, Becky Patterson, Sarah Currier, Ann Casillo, and Tammy Garabedian.

Though they had no chance to go to the Districts, the girls became the spoiler team, knocking off teams in their final games. Sarah Currier and Tammy Garabedian were the leading scorers for the team. Both guards — Maria Hageman and Becky Patterson — had tremendous seasons.

Coach Nelson hopes for a prosperous season next year, with many of his players coming back and new players to be added to the line-up.

Despite the loyalty of the fans and the hard work of the players, the ice hockey team had a difficult season. The team was led by captains Matt Didonna and Dave Butkus and seniors Paul Handley and Jeff Cummings. Juniors on the team included assistant captain Craig Alex, Scott Bull, Jeff Dame, John Flynn, John Peters, and Rob Starkey. Due to an injury in the second game, Jeff Dame was unable to complete the season. Although the record does not indicate a successful season, the team learned much and had a good time.

TAKE ME OUT TO THE BALL GAME

The baseball team's season was a good and lively one. Seniors Mike Nicalek, Gerry Burns, and Ed O'Toole led the team. Sophomores John Dunne and Dan Fleming pitched well and are the ones to watch for. Coach Coleman knows how to take care of his boys when it comes to giving the crowd an exciting game.

GOOD THINGS HAPPEN FAST

Spring Fling is an annual event held in the spring that generates spirit among the students. This year Spring Fling was held for three days. On Wednesday students wore silly hats. On Thursday students wore clashing clothes and colors. The hall decorating contest was also held on Thursday. The theme was Hawaiian. On Friday everyone dressed in Hawaiian clothes. Also on Friday was the class competition activities. Some were pass the orange, sack race, dress-up relay, spoon race, wheel barrel and basketball push, ping-pong ball race, and the famous pie-eating contest. The competitions were close right to the end. The sophomores gave the seniors a real run, but the seniors emerged victorious.

The Junior/Senior Prom was held on May 3rd at the South Grafton Elementary School. This was the first time in many years that a prom was held in the school. Balloons Over Westboro decorated two rooms — one for eating and one for dancing. The Buggy Whip catered a roast beef dinner. Senior Prom Committee chairperson was Joe Malinowski and junior chairperson was Dawn Caputo. Senior members of the committee were Jay LeClaire, Sarah Currier, Jeff Cummings, and Tom McMahon. Junior members were Lisa Misterka, Tara Corcoran, Susan Kent, Tara Stolberg, Tammi Frederico, Lori Dauphinais, Laurie Riordan, and Leah Hutchinson.

“WITH THIS RING . . .”

Personal and Family Living is a course in which students learn about themselves, their peers, and what life has in store for them when they graduate from high school. The main event comes at the end of the school year. It is the weddings which take place and involve the students of each class.

There is a lot of planning and stress involved in preparing for these weddings. First of all, students must have money and lots of it. They also need flowers, tuxes, gowns, presents for the wedding party, and a place for the reception. It is also important to have good food, a good band, and a photographer.

Our mock weddings were as close to the real thing as we could get them. We had two separate weddings, one for each P and F class. The first class's wedding party was made up of Lisa Pichette, the bride; Pam Janovsky, her maid of honor; and Kim Morrissey, her bridesmaid. It also included Kevin Warwick, the groom; Mike Pollier, the best man; and Mario Polselli, the usher.

Unfortunately, the weather did not completely comply with our expectations, for during the first wedding, the sky was gray. However, the weather did not interfere too much, and the wedding went as planned. The decorations were sincere and a good time was had by all.

“WITH THIS RING . . .”

The second wedding party included Debbie Rice, the bride; Angie Somers, her maid of honor; Andrea Wright, the bridesmaid; Dan Page, the groom; Jim Smolinski, the best man; and Rich Ouellette, an usher.

For weeks we went over the responsibilities involved and prepared decorations, and made arrangements for tuxes, gowns, and flowers. The tuxes were provided by Mr. Tux of Shrewsbury free of charge. In class we went over vows and time schedules to make sure that everything would run smoothly. All contributed their time and effort to make the weddings successful. All decisions were made in class by the students. It was up to the class to come up with the ideas for how to create the ceremonies and plan them with Mrs. Flynn, our supervisor, teacher, and head consultant.

It was a beautiful, sunny day for the second wedding. The class spent the better part of the morning decorating the courtyard. There were wooden arches with crepe paper flowers, streamers, and flowers all along the doors. Both weddings were a tremendous success straight through the reception, during which we all ate a turkey dinner complete with wedding cake which was, in keeping with tradition, cut by the bride and groom.

These weddings showed us all that they can be a lot of fun, but they can also be a great deal of hard work. It was a good experience enjoyed by all, and a pleasure to take part in. Also I would like to add a special thanks to the teachers, businesses, and participants who made the weddings possible and successful.

On March 22, 1986, Mrs. Page's most devoted and willing 210 World History classes took the product of months of work — our history projects — to the history fair at Worcester State College. The whole ordeal began at approximately 9:00 in the morning, with each group arriving to register our projects. It lasted until about 4:00 in the afternoon, when the weary, tired history-goers packed up their belongings and left the university.

This day was the purpose for our work on history projects which we all had started in our respective history classes during the last week of January. Since then, we had added to and revised our original ideas. Mrs. Page had warned us that she would be vicious when reviewing our projects (and she was not lying). We had to present our projects to the class several times before the final product was brought to the fair. Along the way, we encountered many difficulties.

“March 22 seemed to last forever.”

First, two of the total number of projects from the 210 classes had to be eliminated, because schools were only allowed a few entries. Passing over this hurdle, we then had to face a major setback. Because of a lack of space and time, the sponsors of the fair were forced to limit the number of participants in the two categories — media and performance. These were the two categories around which all the projects from our school were formulated. Mrs. Page was now faced with an almost impossible situation. She had to choose the entrants in the media and performance categories from her two classes, and she had to somehow change all of the others into a visual display. As always, our resourceful history teacher pulled us through.

March 22 seemed to last forever for the students who were required to stay with their projects for the greater part of the day. Also the media and performance entries had to wait long hours until the time of judging. We all survived, though, with some minor difficulties. Particularly for the performance category, the tension mounted with each passing moment. Of course, we all had survived through the strenuous day to arrive at the awards ceremony, the reward for participation in the contest. We received other rewards, like a balloon for each of us from our generous teacher (Thanks, Mrs. Page!).

The awards for the junior division were the first to be announced, which was not pleasant for all the anxious Grafton senior entrants. All of the students and teachers (Mrs. Page, Mr. Melios, and Mrs. Mahoney) sat on the edges of their seats. Finally, the time came for the senior division awards. Grafton did very well in the competition with the following winners:

MEDIA CATEGORY: 1st place: Maureen Murphy, Rose Andrejczyk, Donna Girard, Becky Hessler, and Kathleen Cleary with their project “The Thirteen Days of October,” concerning the Cuban Missile Crisis, which went on to the state competition. 3rd place: David Vancelette, Erich Bohaboy, Brian Ellis, and T.J. Casale with their project “Where There’s Smoke,” about smoking in our society.

PERFORMANCE CATEGORY: 2nd place: Mary Noonan, Sam Brady, Ashley Heselton, Rachel Remillard, and Missy Gagne with their project “For the Irish: Was the Grass Greener on the Other Side?” concerning Irish immigrants: this went to the state competition. 3rd place: Mark Haseltine and Margaret Platt with their project “What is Black and White and Red ‘All Over?’” about the violence in South Africa.

PROJECT CATEGORY: 1st place: Jeff McCann and John Dunne with their project "A Murder on King Street" about the Boston Massacre which went to the state competition. 3rd place: Brian White, Mark Walden, and David Jolie with their project "Who Had the Power in Medieval Europe?" concerning the conflict between Pope Gregory and King Henry. Winning or not, the entire group of Grafton representatives at the fair displayed a great deal of school spirit. The cheers and applause made everyone at the fair realize that we put a lot of work into these projects, and we were proud of them.

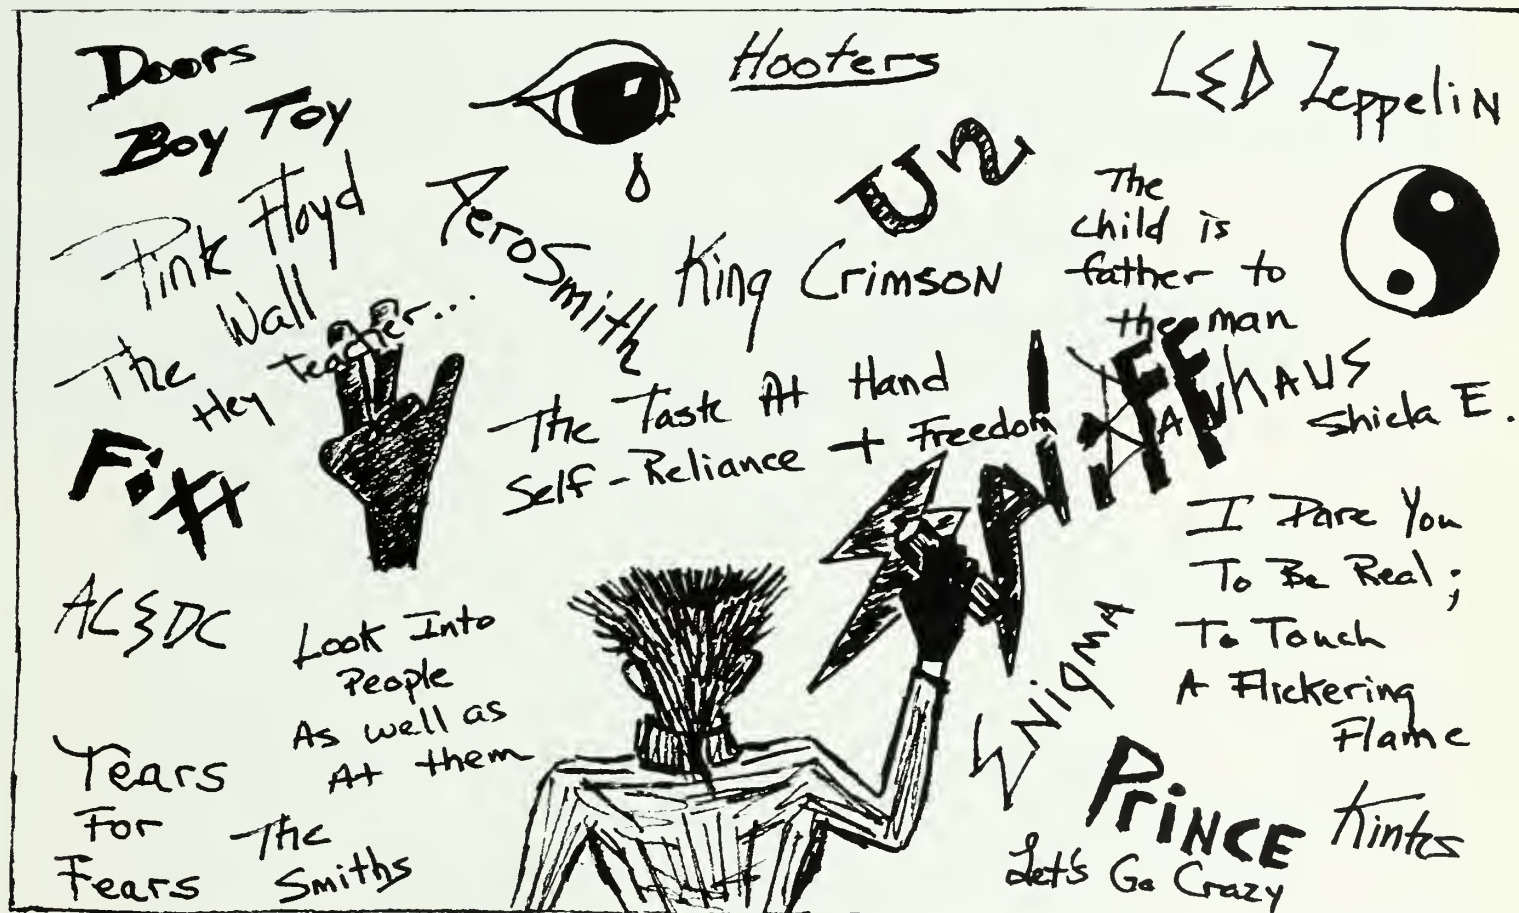

We had three entries from Grafton in the state version of the contest, which was held on Saturday, May 10, 1986. The three groups had time to make any major or minor changes which were necessary. Early in the morning of May 10 all of the groups, their equipment, any spectators, and Mrs. Page piled into a bus to journey to Deerfield Academy where the state competition was being held. Both the group performance and media had appointments with the judges before lunch time, so everybody had a chance to look around at the sights of the school. Unfortunately for Jeff McCann and John Dunne, they had to stay with their project right up until about a half an hour before the awards ceremony.

When the awards ceremony finally arrived, the Grafton entrants and their fans went into a large auditorium for the presentation. As before, the junior division winners were announced first. Grafton received three third place awards for their projects in the three respective categories. This is excellent for Grafton's first year in competition. Many thanks to Mrs. Page for all the sacrifices she made.

THE HANDWRITING ON THE WALL

Thanks to Mrs. Redding, Freshman Class Advisor, the class of "89" has had a prosperous year. The calendar sales were our biggest fund-raising profits, putting over one thousand dollars into our treasury. That and other fund-raisers combined with our overwhelming class spirit made this year a year to remember. Keep watching as we go on to success and live down the title "Cookie Crumblers" in our next three years at Grafton High.

SOPHOMORES

Our class has proven excellent academically also. With over ten inductees into the National Honor Society and more making the honor roll each term. This year Sophomore Cindy Clearwater held the lead in the school play "Grease", and many Sophomores were a part of the championship winning sports teams. One of the highlights of the year was when we received our class rings at a special banquet and dance. The Sophomore Class wishes you, the graduating class of 1986, the best of luck wherever you go, whatever you do. In the past two years you've set a good example for us and have helped us adjust to GHS. We'll miss you. The Class of 1988.

As the school year comes to a close, the Class of '87 has many things to be proud of. For starters, we came into the high school as naive freshmen and we have learned a lot in our three years here. We've had many fund-raisers to bring up our treasury, namely: dances, a sweat shirt sale, valentine roses, and carnation sales for various times of the year, which all have helped us make a suitable amount of money for the upcoming year. We expect to have many more when the New Year comes along.

The Class of '87 is very thankful to Mrs. Helen Campanelli, who is our Class Advisor. She has helped us with all our ideas on fund-raisers. Many of the Junior sports players have been a part of our championship winning season. We are very proud of them.

The whole class is looking forward to becoming next year's Seniors and having all the fun that lies ahead. We hope we have set a good example to the classes below, on school spirit and on an academic level as well. We would like to wish the graduating Class of 1986 the best of luck in the many years ahead of them.

The Class of '87.
